Rose essence oil typically has the following effects and benefits when used in aromatherapy candles:

Relaxation and stress relief: Rose essence oil helps to alleviate stress and anxiety, promoting relaxation and uplifting mood.

Enhanced mental balance: The aroma of rose is believed to balance emotions, reducing mood swings and promoting a sense of calm and stability.

Enhanced romantic atmosphere: The scent of rose symbolizes romance and sensuality, creating a warm and romantic ambiance suitable for romantic dates or special occasions.

Anti-depressant effects: Research suggests that the aroma of rose may help reduce symptoms of depression and improve mood.

Odor elimination: Rose essence oil itself has a mild deodorizing effect, neutralizing odors in the air and creating a fresher indoor environment.

When using rose essence oil in aromatherapy candles, one can choose the appropriate concentration and fragrance based on personal preferences and needs. Aromatherapy candles release the fragrance through burning, effectively spreading the effects of rose essence oil throughout the indoor space, bringing psychological and emotional pleasure and satisfaction to the user.
