Applications:

Daily Use:

Aroma Creation: Coffee flavor can be used in aroma diffusers to release a rich coffee aroma and create a warm and comfortable home environment. It can provide a refreshing effect while filling the space with the strong aroma of coffee.

Concentration Use: The commonly recommended addition ratio is between 0.1%-0.5%, that is, only a small amount of coffee flavor can achieve a strong aroma effect. This ensures that the aroma concentration is moderate and not too strong when used in an aroma diffuser.

Packaging and Storage: Coffee flavor may be used in small packages, such as 5 kg or 25 kg, for daily use to facilitate the needs of families or small users. It is recommended to store unused flavors in a cool and dry place away from direct sunlight.

Industrial Production Application:

Product Addition: In industrial production, coffee flavor can be added to various products, such as perfumes, air fresheners, bath products, etc., to give these products a strong coffee aroma. Due to its strong aroma, only a small amount of flavor is needed to reflect the strong coffee flavor in the final product.

Bulk purchase: Industrial production usually requires a large amount of coffee essence, so you can choose large packaging, such as 25 kg iron drum packaging, for easy transportation and storage. For large-scale production, reasonable packaging and transportation arrangements can effectively reduce costs.

Shelf life and storage: The shelf life of coffee essence is 2 years and should be stored in a cool and dry place. For industrial use, ensuring the correct storage conditions can maintain the quality and effect of the essence.
