Features:

This product is perfect for those looking for fragrance and flavors in their skin care routine. It can be used as a body spray perfume or added to skin care products to give them a floral rose aroma. The Skin Care Fragrances product is versatile and can be used for daily flavor, industrial flavor, floral rose flavor, and fragrance oil for skin care making. The add ratio is 0.1%-0.5%. It is available in three different product names: Rose Fragrance Essence Oil, Rose Flavor, and Rose Essence Oil. The color of the product is usually colourless or light yellow.

Aroma characteristics

Fresh and warm: Rose essence has a fresh and warm fragrance, which gives people a natural, romantic and elegant feeling without monotonous flower fragrance.

Rich levels: The aroma of rose essence is rich in levels, rich in obvious rose flavor memory points, which can make people feel as if they are in the rose garden in May.

Persistent and stable: The aroma of rose essence is persistent and stable, and it can maintain a strong rose flavor and lingering fragrance even after being baked at high temperature for a long time.

Extraction and Source

Extraction process: rose essence is usually extracted from rose petals by water distillation, which requires a lot of rose petals, so rose essence is also an expensive spice.

Source of raw materials: There are many kinds of roses, and there are also many kinds of roses used to extract essence, such as Bulgarian roses. There may be differences in aroma and quality of essence extracted from different varieties of roses.

Applications:

Rose essence is a kind of essence based on rose, which has a wide range of uses, mainly including the following aspects:

1, Perfume and cosmetics

Perfume: Rose essence is an important component of perfume, which can add elegant and romantic flavor to perfume and make it more attractive. Whether it is eau de toilette, concentrated perfume or floral water, rose essence can bring unique fragrance characteristics to products.

Cosmetics: In the cosmetics field, rose essence is widely used in face cream, lotion, lipstick, essence liquid, liquid foundation, eye cream and other products. It not only brings moisturizing and hydrating effects to the skin, but also emits a charming rose fragrance, enhancing the overall temperament of the user.

2, Household goods

Aromatherapy products: rose essence can be used to make scented candles, essential oils and other products, adding a warm and romantic atmosphere to the home space. These products not only have a beautiful appearance, but also can relieve tension and enhance the comfort of the living environment by emitting fragrance.

Cleaning products: some high-end cleaning products will also add rose essence to increase the aroma and quality of the product, making the cleaning process more pleasant.

3, Food and beverage

Food: Rose essence can be used in candy, chocolate, ice cream and other foods to enhance the flavor and aroma of products. It can bring a unique rose fragrance to food, making consumers feel pleasure and satisfaction when tasting.

Beverage: Adding rose essence to the beverage can increase the aroma and taste of the product, making it more fresh and pleasant. This aroma not only enhances the quality of the beverage, but also stimulates consumers' desire to purchase.

4, Healthcare

Research shows that the aromatic components in rose essence can stimulate the nervous system and endocrine system in the human body, promote blood circulation and metabolism, and improve human immunity. Therefore, rose essence also has a broad application prospect in the field of medical care. For example, some aromatherapy or massage products will add rose essence to relieve tension, relieve fatigue and improve sleep quality.
