Applications:

Hami melon flavor has a natural flavor and is usually made from natural fruit extracts or high-quality synthetic flavors, ensuring that the food has a pure fruity flavor, meeting the preference of modern consumers for natural and healthy foods. At the same time, it is highly efficient and can release a strong fruity flavor with a small amount, reducing production costs and ensuring flavor stability. The wide adaptability of cantaloupe flavor makes it suitable for a variety of food categories, including beverages, baking, candy and dairy products, etc., to meet the needs of different products. In addition, cantaloupe flavor can significantly enhance the taste and aroma of food, making the product more attractive in the market and helping the brand attract more consumers. Its good stability ensures that the aroma is maintained during production, storage and transportation, ensuring that the taste of the product is not affected.
