Product Description

Pure Peony Fragrance Essence Oils Facial Treatment Essence

LDZ-PL80117

Product Description:

Peony essential oil is a volatile oily liquid extracted and separated from the flowers, leaves, roots and fruits of peonies. Peony essential oil extracted from flowers is particularly expensive. The main components are alcohols, alkanes, esters, ketones and aromatic hydrocarbons and their derivatives, and also contain a small amount of aldehydes, pyrans, alkenes and phenols. Their fragrance components are mainly phenylethanol and linalool oxide. Aldehydes, esters and ketones in essential oils are the reason why they have significant antioxidant activity.

Product Feature:

Peony polyphenols, which are unique to peony essential oil, are strong antioxidants. They can also prolong the time other antioxidants (such as vitamin C and vitamin E) stay in the body and delay skin aging. At the same time, they can inhibit pigmentation and age spots, prevent acne, and brighten the skin.

FUNCTIONS & APPLICATIONS:

Peony fragrance essence oils capture the lush, romantic, and often subtly sweet floral aroma of peonies, with hints of rose, fruit, green, and honey. Primarily synthetic due to the rarity of natural extracts, these concentrated oils are versatile, finding wide application in perfumery as a popular heart note for feminine and elegant fragrances. They also enhance cosmetics, personal care products, and home fragrance items like diffusers and candles, adding a delightful and appealing floral scent. While not traditionally used for direct aromatherapy benefits, the pleasant aroma contributes to a sense of well-being. Their versatility allows blending with various scent families, making them a consumer-favored ingredient for adding a touch of springtime beauty and romance to diverse products. Quality and proper dilution are key considerations.
