Product Description

Factory Supply Ambergris Essence For Skin Care & Balm Products Making LDZ-PL80041

Product Descriptions:

Our Ambergris Extract is a precious ingredient from nature, designed to enhance the sensory experience of skincare and lip balm products. Its core value lies in its unique and complex aroma, an alluring blend of sea, musk, earth and a hint of sweetness, giving products a sensual tone and luxurious feel that is hard to replicate. As a natural fixative, Ambergris Extract significantly prolongs the scent of a product, making the fragrance last longer.

In addition to its unique aroma, Ambergris Extract enhances the overall sensory experience of a product, bringing warm, comforting and lingering qualities. Traditionally, it has been considered to have the potential to soothe and balance the skin, and while modern scientific research is still ongoing, its unique composition may have a positive impact on the skin.

The Fragrance Perfume Oil is available in various packing sizes: 10ml, 50ml, 125ml, 2.5kg, 5kg, 10kg, 20kg, 25kg, and even 200kg. This allows users to choose a size that is convenient for them and their usage needs.

Product Feature:

Ambergris is actually the intestinal secretion of sperm whales, which belong to the family Sperm Whales of the class of mammals. Sperm whales feed on giant squids, octopuses and other fish. The tough horny jaws and tongue teeth in these foods are difficult to digest and will accumulate in the gastrointestinal tract to irritate the intestines. The intestines then secrete a special waxy substance to wrap up the food residues, slowly forming ambergris.

Ambergris is a top-grade fragrance that plays an extremely important role in the perfume industry and is used as a fixative. It can make the fusion of various fragrances in perfume more perfect, keep the fragrance stable and last longer, and greatly improve the quality of perfume. In traditional Chinese medicine, ambergris is warm in nature, sweet, sour, and astringent in taste, and it enters the heart, liver, lung, and kidney meridians. It has the effects of promoting blood circulation, resolving phlegm, promoting qi, promoting diuresis, and benefiting the essence.

APPLICATIONS:

The name Ambergris sounds very mysterious. It is also called gray amber. It is a waxy solid, usually gray and black, that can emit fragrance and has extremely high value, especially as a high-grade fixative. Spice companies grind ambergris into powder and dissolve it in alcohol to make a fixative. The fixative can make the fragrance of the perfume more stable and evaporate more slowly during the preparation of perfume.

Ambergris essence is a unique ingredient designed to infuse luxurious sensory experiences into premium skincare and lip balms. Its core appeal lies in its complex and captivating natural aroma, often described as a subtle blend of ocean, musk, earth and a hint of sweetness, giving products a sensual appeal and depth that is difficult to replicate. As an excellent natural fixative, Ambergris essence can significantly prolong the scent of products, making the fragrance more persistent and lingering, enhancing the user's overall sensory enjoyment, bringing a unique experience of warmth, comfort and aftertaste.

This essence has a wide range of application potential, especially for products that pursue high-end positioning and unique fragrance characteristics, such as luxury creams, moisturizing lipsticks, body lotions and massage creams. It blends well with other natural and synthetic ingredients to infuse products with a deep and sensual fragrance, enhancing their sense of value and market appeal.
