Product Description

Concentrated LAMA Someday Fragrance Oil For Perfume Making With Free Sample

LDZ-PL10034

Product Description:

LAMA Someday Fragrance Oil is a fragrance product inspired by "dreams come true" and "the future is promising", designed for perfume making. Its fragrance combines fresh and bright fruity scents, soft and delicate floral scents, and warm and comfortable woody or musky base notes, aiming to create a vibrant and gentle atmosphere, like the morning sun and the tranquility of the evening.

The top notes of this fragrance usually open with fresh citrus, berries or green leaves to awaken the senses; the middle notes are dominated by soft floral scents such as jasmine, rose or lily of the valley, which are delicate and layered; the base notes end with warm woody scents, musk or vanilla, leaving a long-lasting and reassuring aftertaste.

Product Feature:

LAMA Someday is unique in that it carries an emotional value and story that adds a deeper meaning to your perfume. LAMA is committed to using high-quality ingredients to ensure the purity and excellent fragrance performance of the fragrance, with good longevity. This fragrance is widely used in a variety of personal fragrance products and is easy to blend with other fragrances and solvents.

Choosing LAMA Someday fragrance oil not only brings a unique scent to your perfume, but also injects a sense of hope and longing, so that every scent carries the expectation of a better future, making it stand out from the crowd and touching people's hearts.

Technical Parameter:

LAMA Someday Fragrance Oil is a fragrance designed for perfume making, and its core technical parameters are reflected in its carefully modulated aroma structure and physical and chemical properties. This fragrance usually appears as a clear to slightly colored liquid with a unique aroma profile, combining a fresh fruity top note with high volatility, a soft floral middle note with medium volatility, and a warm woody or musky base note with low volatility, aiming to create an atmosphere full of hope and tenderness. In terms of physical and chemical properties, it has a specific specific gravity and refractive index, and has a certain flash point to ensure safety. The fragrance is designed to be oil-soluble and easy to mix with organic solvents commonly used in perfumes.

Bright top notes	Bring the vitality of fresh citrus, juicy berries or a hint of green leaves, awakening the senses, like a beautiful vision of the future.
Gentle middle notes	Blooming soft floral scents such as jasmine, rose, lily of the valley or violet, delicate and layered, symbolizing the beautiful scene in dreams.
Comfortable base notes	End with soft woody notes, warm musk or a hint of vanilla, leaving a long-lasting and reassuring aftertaste, as if full of confidence in the future.

Appearance	Usually clear to slightly turbid liquid
Product Type	Fragrance Oil / Perfume Compound
Specific Gravity) (20°C)	Typically between 0.800 and 1.100
Refractive Index) (20°C)	Typically between 1.400 and 1.550
Flash Point	This is the lowest temperature at which the vapor of the oil can form an ignitable mixture in air. For safe handling and shipping, fragrance oils usually have a flash point above a certain threshold (e.g., >60°C).
Solubility	Fragrance oils are generally oil-soluble and designed to mix well with perfume carriers like ethanol, isopropyl myristate, and other fragrance solvents. They are not typically water-soluble.
Shelf Life	Under proper storage conditions, typically 12-24 months
Storage Conditions	It is recommended to store in a cool, dry and ventilated place, avoiding direct sunlight and high temperature

FUNCTIONS & APPLICATIONS

The core application of LAMA Someday Fragrance Oil is to give a positive, gentle and hopeful emotional tone to all kinds of fragrance products. In perfumes and eau de toilette, it is used as a core fragrance to build an olfactory experience of dreams and aspirations. Whether it is a strong or light version, it is designed to convey an optimistic mood.

In body and room fragrance sprays, Someday fragrance creates a gentle, comfortable and hopeful atmosphere, bringing a sense of pleasure and relaxation, especially suitable for daily use. After adding this fragrance to personal care products such as shower gel and body lotion, it can give the product a positive fragrance in daily care and enhance the user's sense of happiness.

Although it is mainly a synthetic fragrance, its positive fragrance concept may also be carefully applied to some fragrance products to create an optimistic atmosphere. In addition, Someday fragrance is often used in handmade products such as handmade soaps and candles to add a unique and hopeful aroma to them, giving the products a deeper emotional connotation and making them more meaningful as gifts.

In summary, LAMA Someday essential oils have a wide range of applications, from personal fragrances to home fragrances. Its core goal is to touch the user's emotions through its unique aroma, bring a positive and pleasant experience, and convey expectations for a better future, making it unique among many fragrance products.
