Product Description

Flower by Kenzo is a prominent example of a modern, powdery floral fragrance, masterfully created by perfumer Alberto Morillas. Its composition is an abstract interpretation of the poppy, a scentless flower in nature. The fragrance is built around a powdery, ethereal core that has become its signature.

For perfume making, replicating the "Floral by Kenzo" profile requires a careful balance of floral absolutes, such as Bulgarian Rose and Violet, with synthetics like ionones for the violet character, and a significant dose of musk compounds for the powdery effect.

Fragrance Notes

Top Notes	The fragrance opens with delicate top notes that create a fresh, green, and subtly floral introduction. Bulgarian Rose and Hawthorn provide a soft, nuanced floralcy, while Blackcurrant and Mandarin Orange add a fleeting, juicy brightness.
Middle Notes	The heart of the fragrance reveals its true character, a sophisticated blend of powdery florals. The Parma Violet note is the centerpiece, lending its distinctive powdery and slightly earthy sweetness. This is beautifully complemented by a classic floral accord of Rose and Jasmine.
Base Notes	The base notes anchor the fragrance with a long-lasting, comforting warmth. White Musk is a key component, responsible for the famous clean, soft, and powdery dry-down. Vanilla adds a gentle, creamy sweetness, enhancing the overall feeling of comfort.

Applications

The Flower by Kenzo fragrance profile serves several key functions in perfumery and product development, driven by its unique olfactive character. Its primary function is to evoke a sense of soft, clean, and comforting femininity.

The versatility and widespread appeal of the Flower by Kenzo fragrance profile make it highly adaptable for a range of product applications beyond fine fragrance. Its clean, comforting, and powdery character is particularly well-suited for personal care and home products where a feeling of gentle luxury and freshness is desired.
