Product Description

Concentrated Fragrance Oils Cucumber Fragrance Essence For Daily Using Perfume Making/Productions With Free Sample

Product Code:LDZ-PL10553

Cucumber Fragrance Essence is a cornerstone of modern perfumery, celebrated for its ultra-clean, "water-rich" profile that embodies the essence of serenity and revitalization. Unlike heavier, resinous scents, this concentrated essence focuses on transparency and crispness, mimicking the scent of sliced cucumber skin and cool, dew-covered gardens. It serves as a vital tool for creators aiming to produce "Blue" or "Green" olfactory families, offering a universal appeal that feels both modern and timelessly natural.

It delivers an immediate cooling sensation, often described as "refrigerated air," which makes it an indispensable ingredient for summer-specific perfumes and cooling body mists.

Fragrance Profile:

Cucumber Fragrance Essence is an architectural marvel in perfumery, prized for its "ultra-sheer" and cooling olfactory profile. Designed for daily-wear productions, it provides a crisp, watery transparency that mimics the sensation of a chilled garden at dawn.

Fragrance Notes	Description
Top Notes (Opening)	The scent opens with an immediate, ozonic burst of sliced cucumber skin, crushed ice, and a hint of bitter galbanum. This creates a sharp, "refrigerated" freshness that clears the senses instantly.
Middle Notes (Heart)	The heart reveals a botanical, "water-rich" core featuring dew-kissed violet leaves, aloe vera, and green melon. These notes provide a smooth, fleshy texture that captures the succulent interior of the cucumber.
Base Notes (Foundation)	The dry-down is remarkably clean, anchored by sheer white musk, soft cedarwood, and a touch of sea salt.

Applications & Functions

The primary function of Cucumber Fragrance Essence is to serve as a high-performance olfactory cooling agent. In chemical formulations, it acts as a "top-note modifier," providing an immediate sensation of freshness that is indispensable for balancing heavier, sweeter, or more pungent raw materials. Beyond its scent, the essence functions as a masking agent, effectively neutralizing the "chemical" odors of surfactants in soaps or the fatty base smells of lotions without adding a heavy perfume weight.

In fine perfumery, its technical function is to provide transparency and lift. It stretches the olfactory profile of a blend, making "dense" floral or woody compositions feel more breathable and airy. Furthermore, it serves a critical psychological function in daily-wear products; its association with spa treatments and water triggers an immediate emotional response of cleanliness, relaxation, and wellness, making it a powerful branding tool for "pure" or "natural" product lines.

Industrial Applications

In industrial production, Cucumber Essence is a versatile staple for personal care formulations. It is extensively used in skincare lines, particularly for after-sun gels, eye creams, and facial toners, where its "water-fresh" profile reinforces the product's hydrating claims. In hair care, it is a popular choice for clarifying shampoos and light conditioners, leaving a crisp, non-cloying trail that appeals to all genders. It is also a core ingredient in aquatic-themed fine fragrances, often paired with citrus or ozone notes to create "Blue" Eau de Toilettes.

For daily lifestyle and home applications, the essence is widely used in ambient scenting. It is a top-tier choice for aroma diffusers and room sprays in professional spa environments to create a serene, neutral atmosphere. In the household sector, it is frequently incorporated into high-end laundry detergents and fabric softeners, providing a "linen-fresh" finish that mimics the scent of air-dried clothes. Its stability also makes it ideal for hand sanitizers and wet wipes, where it masks alcohol odors with a refreshing, garden-like aroma.
