Product Description

Diffuser Fragrance Essence With Free Sample InterContinental Inn Fragrance Oil For Reed Stick & Cold Scented Candle & Diffuser Fragrance Making/Production

Product Code: LDZ-PL30278

Premium fragrance essence for diffusers, reed sticks, scented candles, and home spray productions

Product Overview:

The Plant brand InterContinental Inn Fragrance Oil is a premium "signature lobby scent" inspired by the sophisticated fragrance DNA of InterContinental Hotels & Resorts worldwide. Its primary differentiation lies in its "Worldly Floral-Woody with Green Tea Undertones" profile, engineered to evoke the expansive, serene atmosphere of a five-star hotel lobby featuring high ceilings, fresh flowers, polished marble, and warm wood paneling. Unlike generic "hotel scent" imitations that rely on simple cotton or linen notes, this fragrance delivers a complex, multi-layered olfactive experience that changes subtly throughout the day.

A key differentiator is its exceptional sillage and longevity in cold applications. Many luxury-inspired oils fade quickly in reed diffusers, but this oil is specifically formulated for superior performance without heat, maintaining its full aromatic signature for weeks. It resists the common "flat" or "one-dimensional" drift that plagues lesser lobby-style fragrances when diluted.

Another distinctive feature is its versatility as a branding tool for boutique properties. While it captures the universal InterContinental-inspired character, it uniquely blends with personalized complementary notes such as bergamot, white tea, cedar, or soft musk, allowing independent hotels, B&Bs, and luxury residences to create a bespoke signature scent that feels both familiar and uniquely their own.

Additionally, each order includes a free sample, enabling buyers to test authenticity and performance risk-free before bulk commitment. This oil delivers five-star lobby elegance with professional-grade reliability.

Fragrance Profile & Characteristics:

This InterContinental Inn Fragrance Oil is crafted to replicate the sophisticated, universally welcoming "lobby scent" experience associated with five-star InterContinental properties worldwide. Unlike generic hotel fragrances that lean toward simple cotton or linen notes, this oil presents a complex, multi-layered "Worldly Floral-Woody with White Tea" profile, engineered to evoke high ceilings, fresh floral arrangements, polished marble, and warm wood paneling. Many InterContinental properties are known to feature white tea as a signature lobby scent due to its pure, fresh, and non-cloying character.

Fragrance Notes	Description
Top Notes	The fragrance opens with a clean, bright, slightly sweet top note. The initial impression is dominated by fresh white tea and bergamot, delivering an immediate sense of purity and sophisticated simplicity without sharpness or heavy sweetness. This opening is designed to be universally appealing and subtly refreshing.
Middle Notes	As the top notes settle, the middle heart reveals a delicate yet distinctive floral bouquet. Here, white ginger ylang or soft peony emerges, adding a subtle, creamy floral warmth that is elegant but never overpowering. This middle stage avoids heavy indolic or sugary floral notes, maintaining a refined, airy character.
Base Notes	The base notes provide lasting structure and grounding. The fragrance settles into a foundation of clean musk, soft cedarwood, and sheer woods. This dry-down ensures the scent lingers gracefully without becoming heavy or cloying, leaving a subtle, sophisticated, and memorable trail perfect for long-lasting home fragrance applications.

Functions & Applications:

The InterContinental Inn Fragrance Oil serves multiple sophisticated functions that distinguish it from generic "hotel scent" imitations. Its primary function is atmospheric elevation through authentic luxury-brand olfactory design. Unlike mass-market air fresheners that rely on simple cotton or linen notes, this oil features a complex, multi-layered white tea, soft floral, and clean woody profile that actively neutralizes unwanted household odors—including cooking, pet, tobacco, bathroom humidity, and stale indoor air—while replacing them with the refined elegance of a five-star lobby. The result feels welcoming, never cloying or synthetic.

Another key differentiator is its emotional conditioning with "arrival experience" psychology. This oil is specifically engineered to trigger the positive emotional associations of checking into a luxury hotel—relief, anticipation, comfort, and calm. Unlike single-note fragrances that merely smell pleasant, this oil helps reduce anxiety and create a genuine sense of escape and relaxation, making it particularly effective for spaces dedicated to unwinding after work or hosting guests.

The oil also functions as a scalable brand-identity tool for hospitality businesses. What sets it apart is its exceptional consistency across multiple delivery systems—reed diffusers, cold candles, room sprays, and HVAC systems—allowing hotels to maintain an identical signature scent throughout an entire property without variation. Its unique molecular structure also enables it to pair beautifully with bergamot, cedar, or clean musk for bespoke custom blends without losing its core InterContinental-inspired character.

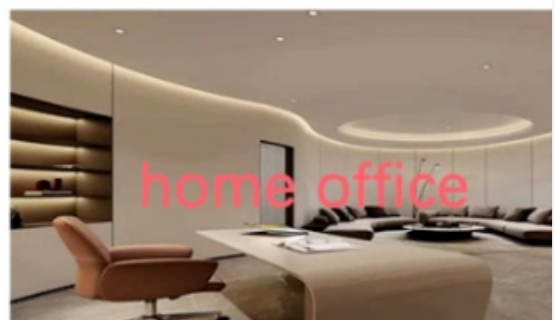

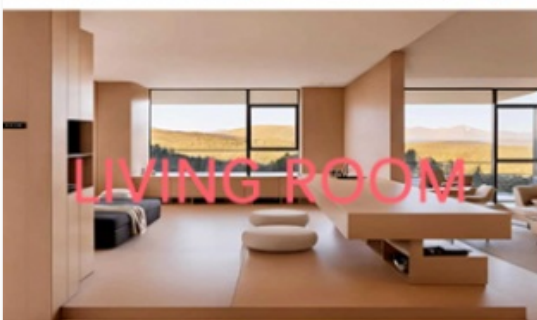

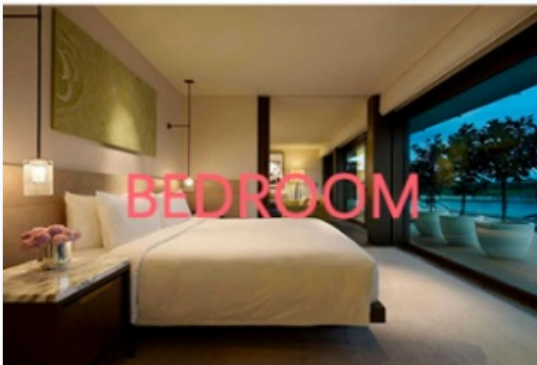

Primary Applications:

The InterContinental Inn Fragrance Oil finds professional application across sectors where differentiation through signature scent matters most. The most prominent application is in boutique hotel lobbies and guest rooms, where it directly competes with branded hotel chains. What makes this oil unique here is its ability to create a consistent "sense of arrival" experience across multiple touchpoints—from the front desk diffuser to the hallway cold candles to the guest room reed sticks—building a memorable, cohesive brand identity that independent properties can leverage against larger competitors.

It is also ideal for luxury spa and wellness center diffusers, where its white tea and soft floral profile offers a distinct alternative to ubiquitous lavender or eucalyptus. Unlike those common spa scents, this oil provides calming luxury without the "medicinal" or "clinical" associations, helping spas position themselves as true five-star retreats rather than clinical wellness clinics.

Another key application is in high-end residential settings where homeowners seek to replicate authentic hotel experiences. What differentiates this oil for home use is its non-fatiguing nature—it remains pleasant and subtle even after 12+ hours of continuous diffusion, unlike cheaper oils that become overwhelming or disappear entirely. Additional applications include premium DIY room sprays for Airbnb hosts seeking guest-positive reviews, luxury linen mists, and artisanal candle lines targeting discerning travelers.
